Lakers against the wall

Suns, Bulls, Pistons one game away, 1,6B

By Bob Galbraith, AP

Three teams, including the heavily favored Los Angeles Lakers, were pushed to the brink of elimination from the National Basketball Association playoffs.

The Lakers were pummeled by the Phoenix Suns 114-101 and trail that best-of-seven Western Conference semifinal series 3-1. The Lakers, who had the league's best regular-season record and have been to the NBA Finals seven times in eight years and have won two of the last three titles, must win the next three games. Game 5 is Tuesday at The Forum.

"We know our work is cut out, but we continue to believe we can get the job done," Lakers coach Pat Riley said.

Only four teams have come back from 3-1 deficits to win a series. The Lakers are one of them, doing it against the Suns in 1970.

Kevin Johnson had 30 points and 16 assists to offset a 43-point performance by the Lakers' Magic Johnson.

In the Eastern Conference, Michael Jordan scored 45 points to lead the Chicago Bulls to a come-from-behind 111-101 victory at Philadelphia against the 76ers. The Bulls lead 3-1 with Game 5 Wednesday at Chicago Stadium.

"We're going to have to be very careful not to be overconfident," Bulls coach Phil Jackson said. "This series isn't over yet."

The winner of that series advances to the conference final to play the winner of the Detroit Pistons-New York Knicks series. The Pistons took a 3-1 lead with a 102-90 win at Madison Square Garden.

The other West semifinal is tied at 2 after the San Antonio Spurs' second consecutive home victory against the Portland Trail Blazers, 115-105.

Imports find rewarding life in NBA

Europeans show ability to adapt to new country, different style of playing

LOS ANGELES — Whatever else you can say about the Los Angeles Lakers and their possible drive to another National Basketball Association title, add this:

They are lucky shoppers. After all, their Yugo is still running. Purring, even.

A young Yugoslav named Vlade Divac came to them this season as something of a gamble. Selected 26th in the first round of last year's NBA draft, he was seen as a project, a big man with intriguing skills who might be of help in a couple of years.

Now, he is seen as the steal of the draft, a key part in the Lakers' best-record-in-the-NBA machine.

"He's very exciting to us," Lakers assistant Bill Bertka says. "He is a very gifted young man."

Only the Lakers, winners of five of the last 10 NBA titles and still going strong, could replace a Rolls-Royce — retired NBA legend Kareem Abdul-Jabbar — with a Yugo and end up favored to take another checkered flag.

Four other NBA teams tested the European import market this season, with varying degrees of success and disappointment.

AKEEM OLAJUWON: Next challenge: David Robinson.

Dream sequence: Akeem Olajuwon, who usually downplays his heroics on the court, was all smiles after collecting the third quadruple-double in NBA history. "That's a big accomplishment," Olajuwon said after scoring 29 points with 18 rebounds, 11 blocked shots and 10 assists Saturday against Golden State. "Coach (Don) Chaney had asked me if I wanted to go back into the game to get that block." He got two blocks in the final 4:02 as Houston won 129-120. When the game ended, Olajuwon was credited with only nine assists, but the Rockets staff looked at the film after the game and detected an uncredited assist. "It's legitimate," Chaney said. "I've got it on film." The uncredited assist happened when Olajuwon threw a kick-out pass to Buck Johnson, who made a jumper.

HOUSTON'S BIG MAN BECOMES 3RD PLAYER IN NBA HISTORY TO SCORE QUADRUPLE-DOUBLE. GOLDEN STATE IS VICTIM. 48.

Olajuwon scores quadruple-double

Akeem Olajuwon became only the third player in NBA history to record a quadruple-double with 29 points, 18 rebounds, 10 assists and 11 blocked shots against Golden State. Nate Thurmond had the first in 1974, the year after the league began recording blocked shots. Alvin Robertson had the other, getting double-digit steals:

Olajuwon and David Robinson, the best big men in the West, are the only players this year with triple-doubles that include blocked shots. Monday night, they faced each other for the third time.

Road to Denver: NCAA Div. I men's basketball championship

winner all the way

DENVER — No doubt about it.

Nevada-Las Vegas ended coach Jerry Tarkanian's long wait for a national championship — and extended Duke's — Monday night, blitzing the Blue Devils 103-73 in the NCAA tournament final.

Anderson Hunt scored 29 points and All-America forward Larry Johnson 22 as the Rebels seized control with first-half defense and sealed it with a three-minute, 18-0 offensive and defensive explosion in the second half.

The 30-point margin was the largest of any tournament final. The previous: 23 points in 1968, when UCLA beat North Carolina 78-55.

The Rebels also became the first team to break the 100-point barrier in the championship game.

"It was just one of those games you dream about," Tarkanian said.

It was a game Tarkanian, the USA's winningest active coach, awaited for 22 years and 683 games. He and UNLV reached the NCAA Final Four two previous times and never reached the tournament final.

Duke goes home from a Final Four empty-handed for the eighth time overall and the fourth time in five years.

"We couldn't overcome their defense," Blue Devils coach Mike Krzyzewski said. "They were in control of the game, whether they had the ball or not. ... They were great."

UNLV, playing both its traditional, man-to-man pressure defense and an equally wearing 1-1-3 zone, forced 10 Duke turnovers in the game's first 8½ minutes, 14 in the first half and 23 in the game. The Rebels (35-5) led 47-35 at halftime, then let Duke (29-9) pull within 10 in the opening minutes of the second half.

And then, they blew the Blue Devils away.

Hunt, selected the Final Four's outstanding player, hit two three-pointers and scored 12 of UNLV's points in the three-minute, six-second run in Yellowjackets gjorde her en bra 1.omgang, men de ble knust av N-Las Vegas sitt forsvarsspill i 2.omgang. 28 p sier sitt. Da UNLV også treffer på 10 av 15 3 poengere, mot Techs 8 av 21 så bidrar også dette. Duke (4 final four i løpet av 5 siste år) Ville gjerne vinne i år. Jevn 1.omg, men gikk ifra i 2.

Blue Devils, Rebels don't resort to gimmicks

Intense man-to-man pressure defense helped bring Duke and Nevada-Las Vegas to Monday night's NCAA basketball tournament final in Denver's McNichols Sports Arena.

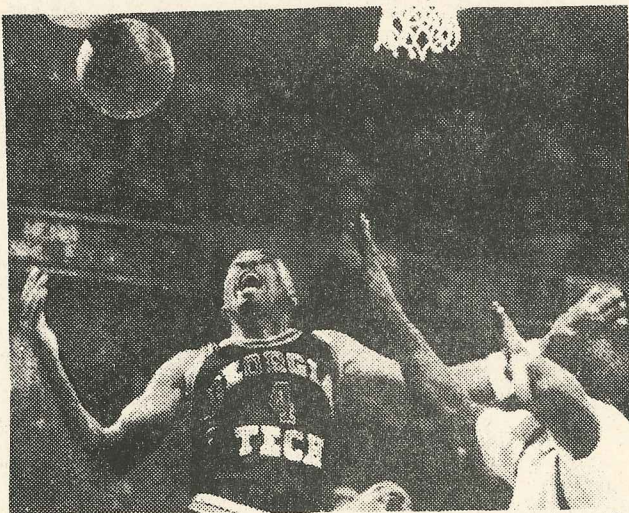

For UNLV, it was the first shot at the title in 11 tournament appearances, including three trips to the Final Four, under coach Jerry Tarkanian.

For Duke — which has reached the Final Four a third consecutive year and the fourth time in five years — it was championship game No. 4. There, coach Mike Krzy-zewski and the Blue Devils were looking for victory No. 1.

"Next to UNLV, they've been my favorite team," Tarkanian says. "We're probably the only two teams I can think of that still play the type of defense we do. We both try to pressure the ball at halfcourt. We both try to deny the lead passes. We both try to front the post."

Call it college basketball's style of the '90s. Duke's and UNLV's pressure is designed to feed equally aggressive, equally high-speed offenses.

REKLAMENS TI PÅ TOPP

Michael Jordan er basketballspiller i Chicago Bulls og drar i 1990 inn 55 millioner i rene reklame-penger ifølge en undersøkelse The New York Times har gjort.

Når vi vet at vår venn Michael har

ca. 20 mill. (+ -) i årslønn, så har han vel ikke så store problemer med å skaffe seg pålegg til brødiskiva.

Stanford takes its first title

Finalen i jentenes turnering. Den kommer nok i bakgrunn av guttas Final Four som er noe av det største i idrettsbegivenheter i USA. Som nevnt tidligere så er det ikke proffbasket for damer i USA. Grunnen er at TV-titterne ikke synes det er intere-

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. — Coach Tara VanDerveer's five-year resurrection of Stanford's women's basketball program culminated in an 88-81 victory against Auburn in the NCAA championship game.

It was the first national championship for Stanford (32-1). For Auburn (28-7), it was the third consecutive title-game loss.

"It's been the same story all year long," said VanDerveer. "It was a total team effort. These players will do whatever it takes to win."

Stanford came back from nine points down in the first half on the play of point guard Sonja Henning (21 points, nine rebounds) and the inside game of Trisha Stevens (16 points, 10 rebounds), Julie Zeilstra (nine) and Val Whiting (seven).

Auburn made runs throughout the second half but was stopped each time by the three-point shooting of Stanford seniors Katy Steding (18 points, seven rebounds) and Jennifer Azzi (17 points, five assists), the tournament MVP from nearby Oak Ridge, Tenn.

"I can't really describe how I feel," said Azzi.

Stanford was 27-57 in the three seasons before Azzi's arrival. They're 87-9 since.

"They were shooting three-pointers like we were trying to shoot layups," said Auburn coach Joe Ciampi.

Stanford hit 11 of 26 three-pointers. Steding scored six, a championship game record.

"They had so many weapons that defensively it created problems for us," said Ciampi. "My concern and my disbelief was with how quick they got the shot off."

"Basketball is a game of streaks. Good teams make runs at you. Defensively, we couldn't have asked for any more from our team today."

Auburn was led by Carolyn Jones with 24 points and nine rebounds. Jones scored 11 consecutive points in the first half to key Auburn's run.

"At halftime we made some adjustments," said VanDerveer. "Auburn was tired, and when you're tired, the press won't be as effective."

Joining Jones, Azzi and Steding on the all-tournament team were Auburn's Chantel Tremiere and Louisiana Tech's Venus Lacy.

Arbe'

Han Lars var så vrien i kjæften. En dagen træft'n en skolekamerat, og dom hadde itte sett hverandre på 30 år. Lars? sa — Å lever du ta'a, Lars? sa kameraten.

— Mat, svara'n Lars.

— Je mener å du gjør for å leva? sa kameraten.

— Et, svara'n Lars.

— Jaja, je skjøner du et mat, men du må vel arbe' og? sa kameraten.

— Det er arbe' nok når'n tygg og svælgjer unna, sa'n Lars.

Om fiender

En løytnant var blitt fremmet til kaptein, og i den anledning holdt han fest for venner og offiserskamerater. — Gå løs på mat og drikkende! Utpå kvelden fikk han se en frakken sin ute i garderoben. — Hva er det du gjør? sa — Jeg orker ikke ta knekken på flere, så nå tar jeg heller noen til fange, svarte gjesten.

Post festum

Efter en rangel og noen timmers søvn på morgensiden fullt påkledd, savnet han Hans ge-bisset sitt og kjente seg ellers ille i magen. Og når han følte tydelig kjenne gebisset, kunne han full fart til doktor. — Kle av Dem, så jeg får undersøkt Dem, sa doktoren. Han Hans så gjorde, og der smatt gebisset fram under skjorta.

Bordbønn

Det var i gamle dagar, presten fyrrebuude konfirmantane, han talte um bordbøni. Han spurde då Gumar um kva mor hans sa når dei gjekk til bords heime. — Me et ikkje ved bordet, sa Gumar, — me et or gryta, og den set mor på golvet til oss. — Kva seier ho så? sa presten, — Ja, berre sei det du, ungar, seier ho, sa Gumar.

Tran

Petter drakk jevnt tran for helsas skyld. En dag han holdt på å sette i seg dagens porsjon kom naboen inn, og naboen undret seg over at Petter hadde tranflaska stående på ovnen. — Dokter'n anbefalte tran på det varmeste! sa Peter.

Lam

En kar fra Rena var på re-staurant på Hamar, og da han hadde studert spisekartet, hadde han bestemt seg for lammestek og vinket på serveringsdama. Riktig sveis en jente var det, og gjesten som var i godlage blunket til jenta og sa: — Ja, det er vel østerdalslam? — Nei, je er frå Toten, je, sa jenta.

Nøkkelhullfrier
Det var kommen en ny, sveisen kjøkkenjente på gamlehjem-me. En kveld begynte å svervar på værelset sitt, samlet de sprekste gubbene seg ute i korridoren, og den ene etter de andre kiket gjennom nøkkelhul-
let. Det var stor opphisselse.
Mann fram på, men han var så skrøpelig og skjelvev over hele kroppen at det var ikke råd å få siktet inn nøkkelhullet for ham.
Men så pep det i ham:
— Hold ti hue mitt, da kara,
så je får sjå, je au!

Hønefoss Basketballklubb ble i helgen beste jenteklubb i Hansa Cup i basketball i Bergen. Turneringen regnes som et uoffisielt NM for aldersbestemte lag. Best innsats

Ole Martin Solberg

Jeg hadde aldri trodd at vi skulle klare å bli beste jenteklubb i turneringen. Men du verden så moro det var, sier Ola Gravem Knutsen i basketballklubben.

Pikelaget til Hønefoss leverte en stor turnering. Etter fem stra-ke seire var laget klar for finalen. Motstander var Bergkameratene. Etter en jevnspilt 1. omgang ble et par av de beste Hønefoss-jentene utvist etter pause. Sakte, men sikkert økte Kongsberg-jentene ledelsen. Da sluttsignalet gikk hadde Bergkameratene vunnet 38-24.

Smapikenes og minipikenes innsats bidro også til at Hønefoss ble kåret til turneringens beste jenteklubb. Smapikene ble slatt ut i kvartfinalen av vinneren av klassen, Høyenhall.

Minipikene ble nummer tre etter tap i semifinalen mot Høybråten, som senere vant finalen.

2. laget til Hønefoss-pikene endte på sisteplass i innledende pulje. I B-sluttspillet gikk laget til finalen, men tapte med tre poeng mot Fjellhammer.

2. laget til Hønefoss i smapikeklassen endte på 2. plass i innledende pulje. I første kamp i det videre spillet ble det tap mot Ammerud. Ammerud tapte senere finalen i turneringen.

Blant guttene til Hønefoss le-

Pikelaget til Hønefoss som tapte finalen. Bak til venstre: Ola Gravem Knutsen (trener), Ida Hamremoen, Siv M. Vesterli, Inger-Lise Ruud, Bergljot Engen og Svein Roger Eriksen (lagleder). Foran til venstre: Ellen Anette Ludvigsen, Anita Danielsen, Guri Monserud, Ragna K. Aasen og Hilde Myhr.

av Hønefoss-lagene leverte pikelaget som tapte finalen mot Bergkameratene.

verte småguttelaget den beste innsatsen. De nådde kvartfinalen, men tapte denne mot Natland.

Guttelaget til Hønefoss endte på sisteplass i innledende pulje. I B-sluttspillet kom de til semifinalen, men tapte mot Bergkameratene.
